GOVERNMENT PRINTING OFFICE RECOGNIZED AS A PATRIOTIC EMPLOYER

Washington, D.C.-The U.S. Government Printing Office has been recognized as an outstanding District of Columbia employer for contributing to national security and the protection of liberty and freedom by supporting GPO employees participating in America's National Guard and Reserve force.

"We salute our GPO members of the Guard and Reserve who are called to duty in order to protect the American way of life," said Bruce James, Public Printer of the United States. "We support and commend them for their unselfish work in defending the freedoms we enjoy in this great Nation."

The Department of Defense National Committee for Employer Support of the Guard and Reserve honored the GPO recently during a ceremony at the DC National Guard Armory where Deputy Public Printer Bill Turri accepted the award on behalf of every employee at the GPO.

The U.S. Government Printing Office (GPO) is responsible for the production and distribution of information products and services for all three branches of the Federal Government. More than 268,000 Federal Government document titles are available to the public via the Internet at www.gpoaccess.gov. Printed copies of many of those documents ranging from Supreme Court opinions to reports from the Bureau of Labor Statistics may also be ordered through the GPO's web site or by calling toll-free 866-512-1800. The GPO, through partnership with 1,250 libraries participating in the Federal Depository Library Program, provides personal assistance in locating and using Government information. Participating libraries may be located on GPO's web site or by calling toll-free 1-888-293-6498. The GPO, headquartered in Washington, DC, is led by Bruce R. James, Public Printer of the United States.
